Waitsburg City Council discuss pool conversion plan, approve CFP update

Pool property could be used as a skate park and winterime ice rink

By Lane Gwinn | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG — The Waitsburg City Council met on Tuesday, August 12, at City Hall. Jillian Henze, Jim Romine, Kevin House, Cindy Bishop, Mayor Marty Dunn, and City Administrator Randy Hinchliffe were in attendance. Court Ruppenthal was absent.

The council unanimously approved the Capital Facilities Plan update for 2025.

Resolution 2025-794 was passed authorizing Hinchliffe to sign documents for the transfer of property from the Washington State Department of Transportation. The property at the end of 6th Street will be used to create access to properties that do not have road or utility access. The WSDOT gave the property to the city under the condition that it be used for that purpose.

Common Roots Housing is applying for a state Connecting Housing to Infrastructure Program grant to fund projects in Waitsburg. The community-based organization purchases land to develop permanently affordable homes. It has plans to build six to ten affordable housing units in Waitsburg and asked the city to waive utility hookup fees, estimated at $3,800 for sewer and water per house. The waiver is a requirement under the CHIP grant. The council approved Ordinance 1097 to waive the connection fees.

Hinchliffe presented plans to convert the old city pool into a skate park and winter ice rink. The filled-in pool would be capped with asphalt with a surface suitable for a skate park. There would be removable ramps and other skate fixtures. In the winter, the park would be converted into a synthetic-ice skating rink.

Hinchliffe provided a plan and budget, with most of the cost covered by a 9/10th sales tax economic development grant from the county for $102,000. The city would purchase a synthetic ice rink system from KwikRink. The package would include 50 pairs of skates for rentals, a decorative fence around the rink, and an automated skate sharpener.

The plan includes improving the old pool building for winter use, moving the ADA mobile restroom from the fairgrounds to the ice rink during winter, and outdoor heaters, seating, and a large sun shade to cover the rink.

Henze expressed concern about the quality of the proposed product and asked to table the decision until next month to give the council more time for review.

Hinchliffe described how he decided on synthetic ice and the vendor. He said he visited a facility in Spokane that uses KwikRink for a smaller rink to teach kids the basics of hockey. The director noted that while there are drawbacks to synthetic ice compared to real ice, the product would enable the city to create a winter attraction that is easy to install and maintain. Since the county will not reimburse the city for the costs until the project is complete, he would like to have it finished by Hometown Christmas.

The council voted to delay a vote until the next meeting.

12th Annual Swim the Snake a success

By Lane Gwinn | THE TIMES

LYONS FERRY, WA — The 12th Annual Swim the Snake was held on Saturday, August 9, at Lyons Ferry Marina. The event raises funds for a regional non-profit, youth educational programs, and a summer swim team. Almost 50 participants swam and paddled the 0.7-mile course between Lyons Ferry State Park and Lyons Ferry Marina, and some made it round-trip. Hannah Holman swam three legs for 2.10 miles.

The Blue Mountain Resource Conservation and Development Council organizes the event with local volunteers, grants, donations, and foundation financial support. River patrols from the Columbia, Franklin, and Walla Walla County Sheriff's Offices managed river traffic. The event's photographer, Dr. Mike Luce, also monitored the participants in his kayak, ready to offer additional flotation to anyone who needed assistance.

The weather and river conditions were perfect—a windless, sunny day with a river temperature of around 72 degrees. Many spectators cheered the swimmers and paddlers from the fishing pad at the marina. Paddlers helped spot the swimmers to the marina, and many swimmers swam back to the State Park, for a roundtrip of 1.4 miles.

Jill Dildine, from Adventure-fit in Walla Walla, and her family participated on paddleboards with a whimsical inflated loon. Participants came from Walla Walla, Pasco, Kennewick, Richland, and other Pacific Northwest communities, including Spokane, Lewiston, Sisters, and Portland, Oregon.

"This was a very well-organized, fun event," said Joy Smith, CEO of BMRCDC. "From the online registration process, check-in, and commemorative T-shirt distribution, the event ran smoothly." Her 11-year-old granddaughter, Lilly, helped spot incoming swimmers coming into the marina in her kayak.

Regional support for the event comes from Puget Sound Energy, Dayton/Columbia County fund of the Blue Mountain Community Foundation, Columbia and Franklin County Commissioners LTEP funds, Banner Bank, Lyons Ferry KOA, Washington State Parks, US Coast Guard, US Army Corps of Engineer, Port of Columbia, Dayton Chamber of Commerce, Waitsburg Commercial Club and numerous local volunteers.

The event raised over $2,400.00 before expenses. Rural community youth programs appreciate this annual support for their activities.

Starting the City of Waitsburg on the first step to construct a flood drainage channel under Main Street and consideration of the 2001 contract for law enforcement services with the Walla Walla County Sheriff's Office were points of discussion at the Waitsburg City Council meeting Aug. 2. Councilman Fred Hamann asked Mayor H.V. "Bill" Zuger and fellow councilmembers for guidance on the next step in the process. "Is now the time that we begin implementing and creating some of these plans?" Hamann asked. Zuger replied that specific points that can be started should be and others may take more time because of funding constraints. "It boils down to finding the funding," Zuger said.

On Union Flat and Penewawa Creek, threshers are charging 10 cents per bushel for threshing bound grain from the shock and 7 cents per bushel for threshing headed grain. The price was formerly 6 and 7 cents. The advance is due to large straw, small yield of wheat and high wages which threshers are compelled to pay for help.

Congressman Michael Baumgartner Is Fighting for Rural Health Care

I want everyone to have access to the healthcare they need.

Rural health care has been a priority of mine for a long time. This year, I worked to ensure the One Big Beautiful Bill included funding to keep local, rural clinics open.

The new law's Medicaid provisions will not take effect until the end of 2026. In the meantime, the state government can apply for Washington's share of a $50 billion rural health fund, meant to rush money to farm and forest communities.

After 2026, able-bodied individuals who want Medicaid will be required to work, be in school, or volunteer, (something supported by 80% of Americans*). This is how it should be; our tax dollars must go to supporting the most vulnerable.
