BMLT helps two unique community farms

By Lane Gwinn | THE TIMES

COLLEGE PLACE — The Blue Mountain Land Trust has helped secure the future of two local, community-focused farms in the Walla Walla Valley.

Hayshaker Farm offers a wide selection of organic produce, including vegetables, fruit, and herbs. As part of its commitment to values-based farming, Hayshaker utilizes draft horses for its fieldwork, including plowing, discing, harrowing, cultivating, and harvesting.

The farm has rented 11.53 acres of prime farmland at the edge of College Place. The property was at risk of being lost to residential development since Hayshaker Farm was not able to purchase the land.

To ensure the land would stay in agriculture, BMLT secured a low-interest loan to purchase the land. They will now partner with Hayshaker Farm to protect the community’s food access to local, regional, and organic produce.

“Though Hayshaker Farm is just over 11 acres, its impact on our local food system is immense,” said Amanda Martino, BMLT Executive Director. “Protecting this land proves what’s possible when a community comes together to support the next generation of farmers.”

Over 70% of the produce grown at the farm is sold locally. In 2024, Hayshaker distributed its produce to 380 families, 50 restaurants, schools, grocery stores, and food banks. Hayshaker also offers regional food and farm goods through its Walla Walla Food Hub Online Market at wallawallafoodhub.com.

In April, BMLT protected Welcome Table Farm, a 24.62-acre farm on the south side of Walla Walla, through a conservation easement.

The land has acquired over 20 conservation easements since its founding in 1999. Conservation easements are agreements between property owners and a land trust that permanently limit the uses of the land. It’s a way for landowners to protect their property’s natural, agricultural, or historical features while still retaining ownership.

Owned and operated by Emily and Andy Asmus, Welcome Table Farm is committed to regenerative agricultural practices. Their farm products, including vegetables, flowers, and pastured pork, are available through a subscription service, at an on-site farmstand, and at the Walla Walla Farmers Market.

Welcome Table Farm offers educational opportunities on the farm. School field trips can be arranged for groups of students ages five and up by contacting the farm directly.

During June, Welcome Table offers KinderSprouts, four-day summer camps for kids ages 4 and 5. Older kids aged 6 to 9 and 10 to 12 can sign up for five-day sessions of FarmKids summer day camps in July and August.

The Blue Mountain Land Trust is a nonprofit that protects the lands and waters of the Blue Mountain region. The trust strategically works to conserve the region’s natural resources and working lands. They restore and provide stewardship to protected lands in perpetuity. The BMLT Blues Crew improves public access to outdoor recreation in the Blue Mountains through trail maintenance. The crew welcomes volunteers and works with regional agencies and the Umatilla Nation Forest Service.

Dayton council discuss wastewater treatment plant malfunction

By Justin Jaech | THE TIMES

DAYTON — Mayor Roger Trump called the Dayton City Council to order at 6 p.m. on June 10, 2025. Trump, council members James Su’euga, Michael Smith, Glenn Hagfeldt, Laura Aukerman, and Joann Patras were present. Shannon McMillen and Kyle Anderson did not attend.

Sheriff Joe Helm said May was the busiest month of the year so far, with 665 incidents, 497 of those taking place within the City of Dayton. He said fourth-grader Cameron Montoya had been selected for the “Sheriff for a Day Program.” The department will recognize the student at the Walla Walla Sweets game on June 26, 2025, and at the Dayton National Night Out on August 5, 2025.

Helm said the department is looking for citizens to volunteer for Blue Mountain Search and Rescue. Interested persons can contact the Sheriff’s Office for more information.

The council approved administrative items in the consent agenda.

The mayor opened a public hearing on the annual extension of the six-year Transportation Improvement Program. There were no public or council comments or remarks.

The council authorized Resolution 1570 to execute an annual contract agreement with the Blue Mountain Humane Society for animal control.

Resolution 1571 authorized a renewal of a work crew agreement between the Washington State Department of Corrections and the City of Dayton.

The council designated The Dayton Chronicle as the city’s official Newspaper of Record for the following year by authorizing Resolution 1572.

Under Resolution 1573, the council approved a professional services agreement with Anderson Perry to provide general on-call engineering, architectural, and land surveying services to the city.

A contract was also made with Anderson Perry for the temporary operation of the city’s wastewater treatment plant. The company will provide an on-site certified operator to operate and train city employees. The contract is necessary after the departure of the city-employed certified operator.

Trump said the city settled a lawsuit but did not provide details. He reminded board members that if they had questions, they would have to go into an executive session.

Ryan Paulson, the Public Works Director, said the communications system for the wastewater treatment plant, which is used for monitoring the plant, failed suddenly on the morning of June 10, 2025.

The failure caused the plant to shut down. Paulson said the system’s components are obsolete, and replacements are not available. Steve Brenner of Dayton Electric was able to kludge together parts to restore operations to the plant.

To keep the plant operating until a new plant can be built, it will require repairs costing between $300k and $500k.

Council members considered a draft of the redesigned utility bill for city utility customers. The new design is an effort to provide a bill that is more informative and easier to read. Changes made would have to be approved by the contractor that prints and mails the statements.

The council meeting adjourned at 7:26 p.m. The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, July 8, 2025, at 6 p.m.

PORT OF COLUMBIA UPDATES

By Justin Jaech | THE TIMES

DAYTON – The Port of Columbia Commissioners met at the Lyons Ferry Marina at 5 p.m. on June 11, 2025. Commissioners Seth Bryan, Johnny Watts, Mike Spring, and Executive Director Jennie Dickinson were present.

During public comment, Chuck Ketterman asked about the urgency to sell the railroad, expressed by Watts at the last meeting. He said the commissioners should seek carefully thought-out answers to questions concerning the sale of the railroad, as it is an important issue.

Watts responded, saying there was no urgency other than what existed two or two-and-a-half years ago when the issue was first discussed. He said he just wanted to know where the port was with the decision and had no hidden agenda.

Dickinson announced a lease renewal at Blue Mountain Station for Mast Year Cider and a new lease agreement with the new owner of Rey’s Roast.

Tema Trucking is moving at the end of its lease at Rock Hill Industrial Park. Kyle’s Demolition will lease building #4 for two years.

Dickinson told the commissioners that surplus moorage from the Columbia Park Marina in the Tri-Cities does not appear to be suitable as a replacement for the C moorage at the port’s marina. She said the proposed moorage would not fit on the existing pylons.

Wally and Joanne Knouff, the owners of the franchise at Lyon’s Ferry, introduced their staff. The couple said three parties were interested in purchasing the franchise for the marina and campground.

Dickinson shared recently completed preliminary plans for the construction of the Main Stem Malt facility. Dickinson said she is working with the Washington State Department of Commerce to seek funding for the Pasta Company, which could provide fourteen jobs in Dayton.

Shane Laib spoke on economic development, briefly addressed the issue of abandoned RVs on port property, and discussed plans for the City of Dayton’s sesquicentennial (150th anniversary).

The next meeting will be on July 8, 2025, at the port’s office and on Zoom.

CCHD TO BENEFIT FROM STATE DIRECT-FUNDED MEDICAID PROGRAMS AGAIN THIS YEAR

By Michele Smith | THE TIMES

DAYTON—The administration at the Columbia County Hospital District (CCHD) has received notice from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid that federal dollars are available again this year for Washington State’s direct-funded Medicaid programs.

Fifty-seven state-wide public hospital districts, including CCHD, rely on the Washington State Safety Net Assessment and the Distressed Hospital Grant to maintain a satisfactory level of care. During the first quarter of this year, hospital administrators, concerned about the potential loss of federal dollars, began planning and implementing cost-cutting measures.

At that time, CCHD CEO Shane McGuire said there was no way to absorb any revenue cuts without cutting services, and the administration was poised to address a $2.6 million budget shortfall.

The exact amount of federal funds the state will receive this year is still unknown; however, McGuire said he is grateful and cautiously optimistic.

“We very well may end up fighting for it again next year, but we’ll take that as it comes,” said McGuire.

A Message of Thanks from the Family of Mary Ellen Juris

We would like to extend our sincere gratitude for all the kind expressions of sympathy we have received during this difficult time. Your support, whether through attending the service, sending flowers, offering messages of condolence, sending cards, making donations, or providing food, has been a great comfort.

Special thanks to Mary Ellen’s dedicated caregivers, Marion Mattern and Kathy Berg, and to the wonderful staff at Rivers Walk and Columbia County Health System.

Our appreciation also goes out to her long-time yard care provider Bill Clarys for his faithful service, and to Pastor Deborah Tyler for her spiritual support.

Sincerely,
Kris and Jay Takemura,

Waitsburg Parks & Rec announces pool levy on November ballot

By Lane Gwinn | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG – On June 16, the Waitsburg Parks and Recreation District announced it is running a levy on the November General Election ballot to fund the district and facilitate the reopening of a Waitsburg community pool. The announcement took place at the proposed site of the new pool facility.

Waitsburg Parks and Rec and Friends of the Waitsburg Pool have raised over $90,000, selected a new pool site, identified a builder, and had the site confirmed for viability through a 2-D hydraulic flood study.

“We are ready to jump in and build Waitsburg a new pool,” said Bart Baxter, chairman of Waitsburg Parks and Recreation District. “Over the coming months, we will be facilitating community conversations about how we take this foundational work to get shovel ready and make our dream a reality. This includes a successful Waitsburg Parks and Rec levy on the November ballot.”

The levy rate proposed will be 89 cents per $1,000 in assessed property value, and if passed by the voters, will contribute about $200,000 per year to the Waitsburg Parks and Rec district to fund the district and facilitate the reopening of the community pool. This is the same amount, $200,000 annually, as what was approved in neighboring Dayton for its pool last November.

Waitsburg Parks and Recreation is working to build a new lap pool, approximately 4,190 square feet in size, with a water depth ranging from 3 feet, 6 inches to 7 feet. It will feature six lap lanes with starting platforms and a zero-entry, shallow-water program area.

The estimated construction cost of a new pool ranges from $2.1 million to $2.5 million.

The current cost proposal does not include the bathhouse, mechanical rooms, site work, excavation, site drainage, utilities, decks, walkways, landscaping, lighting, and fences.

Lane Gwinn

The levy amount will not cover the entire cost of building the pool, which the district aims to keep at less than $3 million. The Friends of the Pool will continue to work relentlessly to privately fundraise, write grants, and pursue larger funding opportunities.

District commissioners anticipate being able to operate the pool within the annual $200,000 budget based on the budgets of similar pools in neighboring communities.

“The Waitsburg Parks and Rec levy on the November ballot represents a vital investment in our future, with funds dedicated to building a new Waitsburg pool — a space for families, kids, and neighbors to gather, cool off, learn to swim and create memories for years to come,” said Wendy Carter, Waitsburg Parks and Recreation District.

By Karen Huwe | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG — Waitsburg High School’s National Honor Society (NHS) held its annual induction on Wednesday, May 28.

Current NHS officers and their families welcomed new member Bea Karl into the membership.

“National Honor Society is one of the few clubs that students must qualify for rather than just sign up and join. Our Waitsburg chapter is full of incredible students, and I am blessed to be a part of it all,” said NHS advisor Shannon Schreindl.

Service projects the NHS completed this year included a food drive and a blood drive.

“We are already in the planning stages for next year’s service activities. I am really proud of these kids,” said Schreindl.

All Wheels Weekend brought cars, food, and Elvis

THE TIMES

DAYTON — Elvis was a big hit at Dayton's All Wheels Friday night. He entertained the crowd for an hour and a half on the courthouse lawn. Professional Elvis Tribute Artist Moses Snow performed as the rock and roll icon in his prime. Snow, from Fort Worth, Texas, was named Elvis Tribute Artist Champion at the 2024 Penticton Elvis Festival in British Columbia. The young performer placed first in the 2025 Charlotte Motor Speedway Elvis Festival, which qualifies him as a semifinalist in the 2025 Ultimate Elvis Tribute Artist Contest to be held at Graceland Soundstage during Elvis Week.

Strawberries and Cream Pretzel Pie

Every June, I anticipate the first batch of ripe strawberries in our backyard. Checking the patch each morning I look for the bright red fruit, like little rubygems, peeking out from under the shade of their leaves. In time for our family Fathers' Day celebration, we had a bounty of gorgeous strawberries ready to pluck last week. This delightful pie with a cloud of creamy filling in a sweet and salty pretzel crust, acts as the perfect vehicle for highlighting the beauty of sun-ripened strawberries. A celebration of the season.

Ingredients:

- 14 tablespoons unsalted butter, softened, plus more
2 cups plus 2 tablespoons un-sifted confectioners' sugar
3 cups (120 grams) mini pretzels, finely ground
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon kosher salt
12 ounces cream cheese
1 ½ cups heavy whipping cream
1 pound fresh strawberries, hulled and thinly sliced lengthwise
Fresh mint or basil, thinly sliced for garnish

Directions:

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Prepare a 9-inch, deep pie dish by generously greasing with butter.

First make the crust. In a mixing bowl, combine the 14 tablespoons of butter with ½ cup of the confectioners' sugar. Use an electric mixer to beat the sugar into the butter, then add the ground pretzels, flour, baking soda, and salt. Continue to beat on low speed until just combined, then increase the speed to high and beat until a soft, cohesive dough is formed. Gather the dough and transfer to the prepared pie dish. Use your fingers to press the mixture into an even layer across the bottom and sides of the dish. Allow the edges to be thicker and crimp like you would a regular pie crust. Make sure the corners and bottom are not too thick. Place in hot oven and bake until crust is slightly puffed and a deep golden-brown color, about 12 to 15 minutes. Remove and allow to cool completely while you make the filling.

Next prepare the filling. With an electric mixer beat the cream cheese on high speed for 1 minute to soften. Turn the mixer off then add 1 ½ cups of the confectioners' sugar. Continue to beat on low speed until combined. Use a rubber spatula to scrape down the sides of the bowl, then beat on high speed until fluffy, about 2 minutes. Next, with the mixer on low, add the heavy cream, a splash at a time, beating the cream evenly into the mixture before each addition. Scrape down the sides of the bowl and then increase the speed to high. Beat until mixture is whipped and billowy, about 2 more minutes. Will resemble a firm whipped cream or merengue.

When the crust is completely cool add the cream mixture and spread with a spatula. Cover and place in the refrigerator to set. Chill for at least 2 hours, or overnight to allow the cream filling to fully firm up. Shortly before serving, combine the sliced strawberries and 2 tablespoons of confectioners' sugar in a small bowl. Set aside and allow to macerate for at least 30 minutes. When ready, remove the pie from the refrigerator and spoon the strawberries over the top. Garnish the top with chiffonade of fresh mint or basil leaves. Serve immediately.

Notes:

This unique dessert perfectly balances sweet and salty flavors with creamy and crunchy textures. Look for the best quality local strawberries, at peak ripeness for this recipe. You could try using other seasonal fresh berries for the topping in place of, or in combination with the strawberries.

This past weekend, I served this special pie as a festive sweet ending to a family barbeque. For ease of cutting, make sure to keep the pie chilled until ready to serve. Strawberries should be added on top just before serving.

Enjoy!
